Threat Assessment Virtual Table Top Exercises

GLOBALTOP

GlobalTop is a facilitated emergency preparedness and table top exercise service. How reliable is your threat assessment process?

TEST THE TEAM & CURRENT PROCEDURES

Threat Assessment Teams should train together periodically, to hone team decision-making and to evaluate how well current team procedures are functioning. Using tabletop exercises can help prepare a Threat Assessment Team to handle real-life threats and disturbing situations more efficiently and effectively.

EXAMPLE SCENARIOS

GlobalTop can simulate any scenario typically addressed by a Threat Assessment Team, including threats, disturbing behavior, questions about disclosure of confidential information, suicide risk, and case management planning.

GlobalTop™ by Blue Water Partners Global is a new and cost-effective way to evaluate your threat assessment team's abilities and test your organization's current procedures and policies with respect to threat assessment, threat management, and violence prevention. It is a scenario-based service and web-based application that can test procedures, plans and personnel using an array of threat assessment and behavioral intervention fact patterns. GlobalTop is a dynamic first class experience for any organization that is serious about its threat assessment and violence prevention capabilities. Used in partnership with SIGMA Threat Management Associates, it facilitates collaboration among internal and external partners, and maximizes coordination and cooperation for case management.

Why GlobalTop and not the antiquated way?

GlobalTop provides cost savings. Planes, paper and Power Points are all part of an antiquated and inefficient method for performing what should be an efficient and streamlined process. GlobalTop removes the inefficiency and modernizes table top exercises. It mimics real life situations by allowing for remote or virtual participation. GlobalTop allows the organization to test personnel and plans as often as required to improve information-gathering, assessment, and management capabilities.

How does GlobalTop work?

SIGMA works with clients to design, facilitate and critique exercises using GlobalTop as the delivery platform. At the start of the exercise, the scenario is activated via GlobalTop and team members receive information via phone, email, social media, simulated news and other media rich delivery methods all of which is centralized within GlobalTop. Team members use their own procedures to investigate and evaluate the case, then input their responses into a virtual form that is stored for post-exercise review. Upon completion, an After Action Report is produced for review and discussion, allowing teams to identify points in their procedures or policies that may need some clarification or strengthening. Teams can also use GlobalTop to practice their procedures and team building.
